Junior Club's Spring Dance is Tomorrow

Lively Time Anticipated at Legion Room for Benefit Affair

OTHER JUNIOR CLUB NO

This week-end marks the occasion of the Spring Dance, sponsored by the Junior Community Club of Narberth. From all indications, the dance will be a popular event for the Sub-Junior and the Senior branches of the Community organization of women, for it has been learned, in the season just past, that when the Juniors have a party—they have a party—and the dance tickets as a result have been much in demand. On Saturday evening, then, the girls and their beaux, or husbands, as the case may be, will enliven the attractive Legion room with color, life and music. A good orchestra assures the proper syncopation, favors in the way of "noise-makers" and serpentine have been secured, and punch and prizes will be additional attractions to this long awaited evening. If you want to be one of this gay, enjoyable gathering, telephone today to Miss Alberta Davis, 202 Iona avenue, who is chairman of the dance, and reserve a ticket. The proceeds of the admission tax will go to the Braille Fund for the Blind, so a worthy cause will be contributed to, as well as personal enjoyment, by all who attend.

The most recent meeting of the Juniors was held at the home of Mrs. James D. Moore, with twenty-four present. At this meeting the annual reports of the chairman were read, and received expressions of appreciation from the president, Mrs. Ellsworth Clark, who presided, and expressed her great satisfaction at the results of the season accomplished through the efforts of the chairman and their committees. Mrs. Clark made several important announcements regarding the coming State convention, which is to be held in Philadelphia this year, and in view of which the Narberth Juniors have already reserved a room for their group's use at the hotel where activities are to be in progress next October.

A Nominating Committee, consisting of Miss Margaret Kent, as chairman, Mrs. C. D. Goodwin and Mrs. Harold Griest, was chosen from the floor. The committee will present their slate at the meeting of April 28, when elections will take place promptly at 8 o'clock of officers for the coming year.

The Mothers' and Daughters' banquet to be held on May 12 will be

Roberts Garden a-Bloom

The rock garden on the estate of Percival Roberts, Jr., Penn Valley, is at the height of its bloom. The warm weather has brought out the great masses of phlox, arabis and alyssum making up the beds. Masses of forsythia surrounding the rock plants add to the attractiveness of the display.

The garden, located on Conshohocken State road, just north of Hag's Ford road, is observed annually by thousands of pedestrians and motorists.

World Court Advocate

W. CURTIS BOK,

of Bryn Mawr, who will speak on "The World Court" at the meeting of the James C. Simpson Men's Association in the Narberth Baptist Church on Tuesday evening.

Curtis Bok to Talk on "The World Court"

Address to be Made Before Men's Association of Narberth Baptist Church

IS TUESDAY EVENING

W. Curtis Bok, assistant district attorney of Philadelphia, and an ardent advocate of the entry of the United States into the World Court, will speak on the Court on Tuesday evening in Narberth.

The occasion is the meeting of the James C. Simpson Men's Association of the Baptist Church, which will be held in the main auditorium of the church. The meeting is open to all men interested, and is called for 8 P. M., daylight saving time.

Mr. Bok, who lives on Pennstone road, Bryn Mawr, is chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the American Foundation, and in this capacity spent the summer of 1929 at Geneva.

A son of the late Edward W. Bok and Mary Louise Curtis Bok, of Merion, Mr. Bok is a graduate of the Hill School, Pottstown, of William College, and the University of Virginia Law School. He is a member of the law firm of Dechert and Bok.

He is treasurer of the American Foundation, vice-president of the Philadelphia Forum, and a director and trustee of two large financial institutions in Philadelphia.

Honored as Genealogists

Dr. Thaddeus L. Bolton, of Wayne avenue, and Mrs. Harry M. Chalfant, of Chestnut avenue, are two Narberth residents who have won recognition as genealogists. "Who's Who in Genealogy" sketches of their work are included in the Handbook of American Genealogy issued recently by the American Genealogy Society of Chicago.

Two Hundred Attend Dinner at Church

Woman's Missionary Society Sponsors Mothers' and Daughters' Banquet

MRS. WOOLMINGTON CH.

The Mothers' and Daughters' Banquet held at the Narberth Presbyterian Church last Friday evening, sponsored by the Woman's Missionary Society, was attended by two hundred persons.

The affair was opened by Dorothea Bates playing the bugle, after which Mrs. John Van Ness, wife of the pastor of the church, gave the blessing. The Community singing between the courses was led by Miss Frances Fricks, followed by the solemn reading of the Mothers' and Daughters' Pledge.

Miss Marion Halsey Stryker, secretary of the Junior Workers of the Needlework Guild of America, was the speaker and made a stirring address, entitled "A Vision of Service."

Mrs. C. S. Wilnot sang two very beautiful solos with Mrs. J. R. McLaughlin as her accompanist.

Betty Jane Rankin and Virginia Rankin also contributed to the musical program by playing a duet on the piano.

Five readings, depicting the various ages of girlhood, were given by Mrs. H. I. McConnell.

A feature of the evening was a delightful little sketch, entitled "Toast and Tea," given by Mrs. John C. Nash and Mrs. Arthur L. Cooke.

One of the outstanding events of the evening was the presentation of three bouquets of daffodils, one to the oldest mother present, who was Mrs. Wilson, mother of Mrs. Edward W. Merkle, of Homewood avenue; the second to the youngest mother, Mrs. Edward Merkle, Jr., and the third to the youngest daughter present, little Kay McConnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. I. McConnell, of Merion avenue.

At the close of the dinner taps were sounded by Dorothea Bates.

The tables were attractively decorated in green and yellow and presented a delightful appearance to the diners.

Mrs. Clarence T. Woolmington was the chairman of the General Committee, while Mrs. John Van Ness was chairman of the Hospitality Committee; Mrs. Donald E. McCormick, chairman of invitations; Mrs. Osborne H. Graves, chairman of the dining room; Mrs. Edward Haws, chairman of the dinner; Mrs. Roll Phillips, chairman of publicity; Mrs. W. A. Fox, chairman of the program, and Mrs. J. C. Keenan, chairman of finance.

Card Party the 29th

The Hospitality Committee of the Women's Community Club of Narberth are giving a card party on Friday afternoon, April 29, at two o'clock in the Girl Scout Wing of the Community Building. There will be a prize for each table. Reservations may be made with Mrs. John E. Burrell, Merion 1404. Tickets, 50 cents each.

Parent-Teacher Group Hears State Expert

Mrs. Ethel Davison Speaks on "Vocational and Economic Effectiveness"

SCHOOL ORCHESTRA PLAYS

"To learn to plan" should be the slogan of the American youth of today. This statement was made by Mrs. Ethel Davison, of the Home Economic Staff of the State Department of Education, in an address given at the Narberth Parent-Teachers' Association meeting on Monday evening.

Mrs. Davison, speaking on "Vocational and Economic Effectiveness," said that one's happiness and contentment depended primarily upon the line of vocation one chose. "Our children in Junior High Schools are being helped to find their particular vocation with the sincere co-operation of understanding parents and teachers. Work, love, play and worship are contributing forces to make life-work happy and satisfying," she said. This interesting talk was most helpful to a very appreciative audience.

Five members of the school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Frances Fricke, played three selections. Miss Margaret Squier played two piano solos, the second one a composition played entirely with the left hand.

Mrs. Samuel McCartney, president of the local organization, was unanimously elected a delegate to the convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, to be held at Minneapolis, Minn., the third week of May.

Soup Sale Coming

Everyone is invited to come and buy home-made vegetable soup and clam chowder, from 12 to 2 P. M., on Friday, April 29, in the Parish Hall of the Narberth Methodist Episcopal Church. The soup is being sold for the benefit of the Official Board.

Primaries Tuesday to Decide Contests for Committee Places

Outcome of Hot Campaign, Waged on Issue of Party Regularity and Loyalty to the Organization, is Very Much in Doubt

STATEMENTS GIVEN FROM ALL CANDIDATES

The Primary election next Tuesday will decide many candidacies for places on the regular party tickets next fall and for important members of Pennsylvania's delegation to the national party conventions, but for the people of Narberth the great interest of the day will center around offices which usually are little regarded. Those are the places on the local Republican Committee, of which there are two in each of the three districts, one man and one woman in each district.

Ordinarily little attention has been paid by Narberth voters to the committee places, and it has often been necessary to solicit citizens to permit the use of their names for those party offices. This year a hot campaign has been waged in connection with them, because they are actually the Republican organization of the Borough. The present incumbents were regularly elected two years ago and served harmoniously until the primary campaign of last fall, when the candidacies of two local men, Lou Young and Fred Walzer, for high county offices, both standing on so-called "independent" tickets, split the committee. Some of the members supported the irregulars and the others remained loyal to the organization.

Mr. Young and Mr. Walzer both carried Narberth by majorities that attested that their personal home-town popularity had broken down party regularity, but the votes against them in the other parts of the county caused their defeat. Those members of the local committee who remained loyal last fall were discomfited so far as their home-town was concerned, but nevertheless had the satisfaction of seeing the Organization win decisively outside.

Such contests, when intensively waged in a voting area no larger than Narberth, leave behind them cleavages which are not so quickly repaired as sound political judgment might dictate. It is the feeling of the "independents," now apparently led by J. J. Cabrey, that inasmuch as they carried the Borough last fall, they actually are the Republican majority and that therefore they should nominate and elect their own committee, thereby bringing about the elimination of those present members who, though admittedly loyal to the upper reaches of the party, do not represent the sentiments and wishes of a majority of the party in Narberth.

As soon as it became clearly evident that Mr. Cabrey and his followers had selected candidates of their own for the committee places, Henry A. Smith, president of the Johnson Republican Club of Narberth, endeavored to affect some compromise with Mr. Cabrey, by means of which both sides could agree on committee candidates and a renewal of last fall's fight might be avoided. Mr. Smith has stated that nothing came of his overtures. Mr. Cabrey has not denied that such peace proposals were proffered, and the hot campaign which has been waged in the Borough and in the columns of OUR TOWN for the past several weeks would amply appear to indicate that the voters must decide again between the regulars and the independents of Narberth.

The regulars, led by Mr. Smith, are supporting the re-election of Fire Chief Charles V. Noel, Mrs. Louise Voss Cockrill and Mrs. Maude K. Reeves for the committee places, and the others, led by Mr. Cabrey, are supporting Arthur Cooke, Mrs. A. C. Miller and Mrs. Robert M. Town to take their places. It is the first time that a political campaign, involving loyalty to the Organization, has been waged in Narberth with strictly local candidates on both sides.

George O. Schroder and Mrs. Margaret U. Griswold are incumbents in the Second and Third Districts who are running for re-election without opposition.

Mr. Cabrey and Mr. Walzer are experienced and resourceful campaigners. They are popular leaders with loyal friends. Mr. Smith, who has lived on Windsor avenue for many years, is not so well known in the Borough because he took no active part in local campaigns before last fall, when he was selected by the Johnson followers here to lead their somewhat forlorn fight against the independent faction. A surprising element of the campaign which is now closing is the previously hidden resources of strength which Mr. Smith has been able to uncover here, with the result that the Organization cause in this campaign has been well advanced by a highly representative group of active workers. The result is that today no one can confidently predict the outcome.

It has been noticeable that the writers for each side of this contest have previously had little to say regarding their own or the other candidates for the committee places, but have filled columns of newspaper type with arguments regarding the fundamental issue of party regularity. Both sides are supporting the entire county ticket. Apparently Lou Young's present independent candidacy for Assemblyman against Fred Peters, the Organization incumbent, is not attracting the support of those who fought shoulder to shoulder with him last fall. But as the voters of Narberth must decide this committee fight on the basis of the candidates themselves, OUR TOWN has endeavored to secure a statement regarding each one from his own friends. Those statements follow:

Charles V. Noel

Mr. Noel has been a member of the Narberth Fire Department since 1904 and chief since 1911. Outside authorities, including Chief Ross Davis, of the Philadelphia Fire Department,

Candidates for Committee Places in Borough at Primary Election Tuesday

MRS. LOUISE TOWN

Candidate for the women's place on the Republican Committee in the Second District now held by Mrs. Reeves. Mrs. Town and her husband, Robert M. Town, have been residents of Narberth for many years and both are well-known locally. She has entered the political arena at the behest of her friends, who feel that she would represent their aspirations on the Borough Committee.

MRS. MAUDE K. REEVES

Present incumbent of the place of Republican Committeewoman in the Second District, she seeks re-election principally because her many friends have convinced her that this contest, which has been forced upon her, is necessary to vindicate party regularity and as an endorsement of her many services to the Party and the community.

HERBERT A. BARTON

Candidate for Committeeman on the South Side, Mr. Barton is a lawyer who holds that adherence to the Johnson wing of the party will bring Narberth into a larger place in the County sun. He claims that the present set-up of committee holders should be changed. Mr. Barton is unopposed in his candidacy for Committeeman in the Third District.

MRS. LOUISE VOSS COCKRILL

Candidate for re-election as Republican Committeewoman in the First District with the support of many prominent citizens who observed that an attempt was underway to drive out of office a woman who had contributed so generously of her time and energies to many good causes in the Borough.

CHARLES V. NOEL

Chief of Narberth's Fire Department since 1911, he seeks re-election as Republican Committeeman in the First District, and merely asks the voters study his long personal record of service to Narberth and then decide whether he should be given the endorsement which he seeks.

ARTHUR L. COOKE

World War veteran and member of the American Legion, he seeks Mr. Noel's present place on the Republican Committee of the First District. He says that he wears no man's label. He has many friends and has distinguished himself locally as an amateur actor.

Winners

Villanova's varsity baseball team up at Manhattan Island against archenemy, N. Y. U., score 6 to 3. Cap-Czesick and Gazella crashed out two hits apiece. Villanova tennis team overcame Drexel on the former's court on the Main Line Friday afternoon, 7 to 0. The Freshman track team in the meanwhile held a dual meet with Valley Forge Military Academy and won, 80 to 26. Gleason was the star with two first places.

Lehigh University overcame the Main Line Quakers in a dual track meet at Haverford College Saturday.
Score, 71 to 55.

Lower Merion won easily in a dual meet with St. Joe last week, but dubbed a close one to West Catholic on Pennypacker Field last Saturday.
Final score was 59 to 58, the visitors possessors of the winning point. The absence of Lachman Rinehart at Washington and the loss of a right shoe by Captain Lou Buck on the final lap of the half mile race aided the visitors' cause.

Overbrook took advantage of Lower Merion's four miscues and won a ball game from Ed Whistler's hustlers last Friday on Pennypacker Field, 4 to 2.
John Brennan moved over from shortstop to pitchers' box and pitched creditably, holding the visitors to 7 hits and one earned run.

Abington High completely submerged the Maroon team in a game at Abington Tuesday afternoon, 8 to 0. Lefty Thomas deserves better fate, but he granted hits in the pinch and his teammates completely failed him at critical moments during the game.
The team failed to hit consistently.

Norristown lost to Upper Darby High in a dual meet at Norristown last week; score, 63 to 54.

Haverford School defeated Friends'
Central in baseball, 8 to 2. Tilden, Jeannes and Spahr had two hits each for Haverford.

Personalities

Bob Smith, star athlete of Conshohocken High School, recent convalescent from scarlet fever, turned in a four-hit, ten-inning victory over Ridley Park High last week. Smitty had two hits for himself.

Pitcher Jeanes, of Haverford School, held Friends' Central's nine to 2 hits last Friday, winning 8 to 2, and personally delivered two hits, each good for two bases.

Eddie Silver, Southern High star pitcher, twirled a no-hit, no-run game against Collingdale High last Friday.

Irving Brown, colored flash from Norristown High School, turned in the most brilliant individual performance of the week. Brown took part in 8 events in a dual meet with Upper Darby High and won first place in five of them, and came in second in another for a total of 28 points of 54 scored by his team.

Captain Gerenbeck, of Haverford College track team, scored 11 points for his team against Lehigh University last Saturday. Gerenbeck was a former sprinter on the Lower Merion High School track squad, and is the second L. M. boy to captain a Haverford College track team in the past few years. "Eggs" Morris was captain of the track team at Haverford, as well as the football team at the same school.

Carl Johnson, of Lower Merion, in a supreme effort outjumped Captain Caton, of West Catholic, in the broad jump Saturday afternoon by one-half inch.

Estate of Over $200,000 Left by Patrick J. Lawler

An estate valued at $200,000 and upward was disposed of in the will of Patrick J. Lawler, filed at Norristown last Friday. Mr. Lawler, who died at his home in his sleep on April 8, left the major part of his estate in trust to his wife, Mrs. Mary A. Lawler and her six children. Mrs. Lawler will receive the income on half the estate, while the other half is to be used towards the maintenance and education of the children until the youngest has reached the age of 21.
After this they will receive the income.

At the death of Mrs. Lawler, the children will divide the income for life. Following their death the entire estate will revert to the grandchildren.

A bequest of $5000 was made to the Sisters in charge of St. Joseph's Hospital, Philadelphia, and a bequest of $2500 was left to a sister, Kate Koyle, of Drumaughra, County Caven, Ireland, and $5000 to another sister, Alice Reilly, of Pullamora, Ireland, provided that Mr. Lawler has not built her a house at the time of his death.

Mrs. Lawler, a daughter, Mary Alice Lawler, and Philip A. Hart, of the Bryn Mawr Trust Company, are named executors of the will, which was dated January 8, 1932.

Four Teams in Running With Two More Matches Scheduled

With only two more matches to bowl in the last half of the Narberth Interchurch Bowling League, four teams still have a chance to win. The Colts have a big advantage, however, with a three-point lead. They meet the Battlers this evening.

Downs and M. P. Burlingame to Speak at Neighborhood Club

Two prominent Main Line men will address Bala-Cynwyd's Neighborhood Club at its meeting in the Cynwyd Fire Hall Tuesday night. They are Superintendent of Lower Merion Schools S. Edgar Downs, of Ardmore, who will give a stirring address on Benjamin Franklin, and Main Line
Kiwanis Club President M. P. Burlingame, of Bryn Mawr, who will give a brief talk in addition to the more extended one of his friend.

Mr. Burlingame, who is former president of the Bryn Mawr Business Association and manager of the Wilson Laundry in that community, has two brothers equally well known on the Main Line. Everett E. Burlingame, a Liggett's Drug Stores executive, is president of the Lower Merion Board of Education and, like his brother, a former president of the Main Line Kiwanis Club. Manager of the Strawbridge & Clothier Main Line store is B. C. Burlingame, who is a director of the Ardmore Chamber of Commerce.

Officers will be nominated at Tuesday's club meeting, and a musical program will be given by the Rev.
Herbert R. Howells, assistant minister of the Bala-Cynwyd M. E. Church, who is baritone soloist and director of the church choir.

And It Is Something Pretty Nearly Like This Which Stirs Narberth at the Present Time

"And when the people had been assembled, as was their wont, and were taking counsel with each other as to what was good and best for all and several of them, couriers came to announce their appointed ones were even then convincing with an enemy outside the walls, to the end that the plans of the people should be frustrated and the appointed ones wax rich, taking unto themselves that which was not theirs.

"Whereupon, much heat and indignation did prevail, and great lamentation that the appointed ones had turned false to their proletariat, as foully ill because those charged to power, and post-haste the stalwart scions amongst them were dispatched to bind the appointed ones, that for their base-ness they should be drawn and quartered and their heads stuck upon the poles of the city gates, that perfidy should be felled forevermore."

If a man deceives you once—
Shame on him!

NO LONGER SHALL WE BE THE ORPHAN ANNIE OF MONT- GOMERY COUNTY POLITICS!

If you were among the 90% of Republican voters in Narberth last fall who were the victims of cheap politics on the part of those elected to serve you, not hinder your reasonable plans for the advancement of the town's interests, then you have an important per-ing a thorough-going re-cheat you!

It is not a matter of together a question of Narberth or anti-Nar-berth—and a town worth living in certainly ought to be a town worth fighting for.

The following candidates for Republican Committee mem-consideration. They know how to serve and they can be dependent on to observe their obligation to you—not to un-their own petty interests first

The Narberth National Bank is not a

Above all, we wish to be friendly with the members of the younger generation. No matter how little a child wishes to deposit—no matter how trivial the financial problem—we want the confidence of the children and

Narberth's Death Warrant

There is a physical Narberth, small in area, with a tax base that is narrow for school purposes. There is a sentimental Narberth, which is large in the place that it fills in the affections of its citizens and which may prove to be the stronger of the two when the members of the voluntary committee start to circulate that petition, which must contain the signatures of two-thirds of the resident taxpayers before the Court can even consider the subject of annulling the Borough Charter.

We conceive it to be just as much our duty to our readers to report this phase of the merger proposal as to give space to the really excellent reports which the citizens' committee has been preparing in favor of the merger with the Township. The publicity which has already been given to the work of that committee has caused a valuable discussion of the subject wherever Narberth people have come together—on trains, on the street, in Davis' "forum" and over teacups and card tables.

If there are any persons who think that the political future of Narberth can be decided by means of a financial balance sheet, they would be amazed if they could have overheard some of these conversations. Narberth did not become a borough because the people who happened to be living here 37 years ago wanted to save some of their own tax money. It was because those people desired independent self-government and were willing to pay the tax bill necessary. It was clearly apparent in those days that it might cost more to have a borough government than to remain in the then backward Township.

A majority of those real founders of the Borough have passed on, but the charter of the Borough which they obtained and the works which they accomplished under that charter still remain. Many of the present residents of Narberth have inherited the viewpoint, the ideals and the sentiments of that older generation. They do not want the charter annulled. They do not want the name changed. They deliberately chose Narberth for their home sites. They have taken pride in a name which close neighbors of a different social outlook have sneered at. They have built character and quality and real merit into that name, and a deep sentiment is aroused in them by the present developments.

If it is merely a question of saving a few thousand dollars, and excellent community services are to be curtailed anyway, why not remain independent and do our own curtailings, as may be necessary, or spend our own money and procure for ourselves those things which now make the Borough superior to the Township, regardless of what they cost?

We mention these points because the members of the Merger Committee might well be warned now that they will come into contact with them just as soon as they start out with their petition asking for signatures to the death warrant of Narberth.

A Local Emergency

Seven hundred and fifty families on the Main Line are in dire want, and no funds are left with which to provide them with the bare necessities of life. This is revealed in an appeal issued this week by E. W. Ehmman, chairman of the Main Line Emergency Committee. The relief agencies of the Main Line from Overbrook to Malvern find themselves with funds exhausted. The appeal has been made to every citizen of the territory to share in carrying the burden until the families involved are self-sustaining.

Last November the local committee received from the United Campaign the full amount it requested—$100,000, which was deemed sufficient to meet local needs until next November's campaign. The demand has been so heavy that another $75,000 must be raised at once. This is in addition to any help which may be obtained under the Talbot bill.

That only the bare necessities—food, shelter, clothing and medical care—are being provided is shown in the fact that the relief allowance for a family of five is but $20 per month—$1 a week per person to sustain life. The Main Line can and must provide this sum.

As Charles M. Schwab said this week, there are no longer any "rich" people. All who have jobs and are able to scrape along with a little more than the bare necessities are rich, and to those, as well as the more wealthy, this appeal is directed.

A contribution of $20 will sustain some family for an entire month; $140, which the great majority of citizens can spare, will carry one family until November. Starvation must not stalk through our beautiful communities.

Views on Merging

To the Editor of "Our Town": It is amusing to one who only stands on the sidelines to read column after column of factional arguments by a few aspirants after useless political positions. What place should there be in this Borough for such factionalism. What recognition has anyone here ever received from the County or ever will? In thirty years of political history here Charles Caldwell was the only real leader I can recall, and that no doubt was why John Caldwell once got a State appointment and was remembered by Mr. Johnson.

What have our politicians to say about the proposition of selling our birthright for a probable mess of pottage for a suggested saving of $75,000 and having the Eighth Grade pupils sent to Ardmore?

Reports in Our Town tell us a meeting presumably of the Parent-Teachers' Association, was held February 25 to see if means could be found to send them there. If it were possible I would heartily favor that. The attendance at this meeting was reported as 50 or 150. At that meeting Mr. Burns brought along his steam-roller and organized an Oiling Committee. They have it traveling fast and have published an estimate of saving $15,000 on Borough taxes, but no estimate yet of the saving on School taxes. This was presented to the Lower Merion Commissioners with the request that they take no action thereon.

They will next proceed by drawing up a petition to the Court to annul our Charter, and apparently expect to canvass the town for signatures which they expect to obtain easily. Some people suppose we would have to vote on the proposal. One cannot believe this Committee intends to end our Borough without plenty of time for consideration and discussion in a matter of vital importance. Having given a large part of our money to our trusted bankers for developments around the Township, shall we also give them what we have left? No one knows what the result would be.

According to the Committee's report $15,000 could be saved on Borough taxes. My guess would be that less than $30,000 would be saved on School taxes. The total probably less than $45,000 instead of $75,000. This would be an average saving of less than $33 a year per house. Give us some light on what this saving may cost us. If we go back to the Township will our Playground and Community Building belong to them? We spend about $5800 a year for this purpose and $2500 on libraries; altogether $8300, against which the Township is scheduled with $1300 for Playground and $2000 for Libraries, or $3300. What reason is there to suppose the Township would pay anything?

The Fire Company built a Council Chamber and receive $800 a year. The Borough also spends $5400 for Fire Protection, or $6200, against which the Township is scheduled to pay $6000. There is no reason to suppose the Township would appropriate more than is given other fire companies. How much would that be? Is there any reason to suppose

Shreds and Patches

Banalities

"Just what is it that you think clergymen are selling Sir vagrant?" writes a gentleman of the cloth in comment on The Vagrant's recent reference to Easter sermons. It was the use of the word "selling" in connection with the pulpit that troubled the reverend gentleman, and, quite naturally, he made some reference to Bruce Barton, whom he characterized as "another business man who has written a business man's manual of religion." The Vagrant deserved all he got there, and he believes that he is fully aware of the devastating implications of his reverence's irony. The Vagrant has always detested the tendency to apply the verb "to sell" in all its persons and tenses to all the contacts of life. The so-called service organizations, those hand-clapping, song-singing, back-slapping and boot-licking lunch clubs, started it about 15 years ago, and it went over big during ballyhoo decade which is now ended. The Vagrant apologizes for the slip by which that jargon got into this column a few weeks ago, and he gratefully salutes the keen clerical mind which exposed the banality.

Easter Sermons

Whenever The Vagrant hears a poor sermon on Easter Sunday he always thinks that there must have been lack of time spent in preparation and it has caused him to compare the clergyman in that respect with the business man, who usually leaves no ounce of preparation or precaution unused when he is planning for any great opportunity in his affairs. What greater opportunity does the whole Christian year offer to the clergyman than that Easter morning sermon? What greater message is there in the whole Christian program? How can any man, who has been called to preach, who has been trained in that vocation and who knows of the piteousness of human life here on earth, fail to prepare himself adequately and completely, regardless of the time and effort involved, to pour out to his people on Easter morning the great message of the resurrection? Doubtless many, even most clergymen do, but in The Vagrant's personal experience it cannot be said that all of them always do. Is not The Vagrant charitable when he ascribes the failure to lack of preparation? Another might think it was due to lack of belief.

Food

One enters a restaurant of any kind any day, glances at the menu, asks for food, and it is brought to him. One comes home at night to his customary place at the dinner table and forthwith food appears. It may be good food, deliciously prepared and exquisitely served. It may be merely something to eat, and not particularly enjoyable; but sustenance it is, and its regular appearance three or more times a day, when and usually as wanted, often engages The Vagrant's grateful thought. He thinks of the birds in the garden and of the wild animals he has seen, how nearly all their waking hours are filled with the intense occupation of finding food. So it would be with mankind if he had not organized his food supplies. But even with such organization perfected and with the wherewithal to command its service for himself, it seems to The Vagrant to be an amazingly wonderful achievement. When he considers the long line of human skill and effort which raised, transported, prepared and provided that food for him and placed it at precisely the right time exactly in front of him on the table, he feels very humble, indeed.

Professionalism

Professionalism, self-conscious and self-assertive, is one of the most undurable affections that really intelligent people fall prey to. Soldiers, physicians, lawyers, newspapermen, Southerners, Westerners, New Englanders, or any of the other interesting groups into which people are bred by birth or by occupation, are all attractive enough in their way. They all have good and valuable points. But let any member of any one of those groups become self-conscious about it and he will then instinctively develop in himself and assert the worst traits of his group. The soldier becomes a swashbuckling bully; the physician a petty tyrant; the lawyer a ponderous, vaporing ass; the newspaper man a cynical liar; and the Southerners, the Westerners and the Yankees, when they go professional (God pardon the thought), they should be drawn and quartered because of their base portrayal of the really excellent parts of the country which they so grossly misrepresent.

THE VAGRANT.

they would continue a Board of Health here? What would happen to our Zoning Ordinance? They are scheduled to spend $12,000 a year on our roads. Anyone who thinks they would keep our roads as we do must be a super optimist.

Finally, no one knows what our assessments and future tax rates might be, and we could have no assurance of any definite sums they would appropriate for our benefit.

Put the brakes on the steam-roller. WALTER COWIN.

Local Movies

Comedy, "Aladdin's Lamp," and "Emma" at Narberth

A very funny and smoothly, rapidly moving story is "The Passionate Plumber," in which Buster Keaton, Jimmy (Schnozzle) Durante and Polly Moran may be seen at the Narberth Theatre this Friday and Saturday, including Saturday's matinee. Also at the matinee is "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp," recommended with "Peter Pan," "Robin Hood" and "Babes in the Woods," as worth seeing by children and their parents.

Screamdom's most popular actress, Marie Dressler, gives another touching, amusing, pleasing character portrayal in "Emma," at Narberth next Monday and Tuesday. Next Wednesday and Thursday, Chester Morris, Billie Dove and Matt Moore will entertain in "Cock of the Air," a story about wartime airmen in Paris. Friday and Saturday next, comic Joe E. Brown will amuse in "Fireman, Save My Child."

"Arrowsmith," "Wizard of Oz" and Paris Picture Feature Egyptian's Week

One of the year's unquestioned best pictures is "Arrowsmith," at the Egyptian this Friday and Saturday nights. Based on Sinclair Lewis' best-selling novel, directed by John Ford, it is superbly screened. The excellent cast includes Ronald Colman, Helen Hayes, Richard Bennett, A. E. Anson and Myrna Loy. That childhood classic, L. Frank Baum's "Wizard of Oz," will play at the Egyptian's children's party 2.15 P. M. this Saturday. Endorsed by sponsors of good films for children and their elders, it presents Dorothy, the tin woodman, the scarecrow and other curious characters in the diverting tale.

George O'Brien, Victor McLaglen and Conchita Montenegro will appear next Monday and Tuesday in "The Gay Caballero."

Next Wednesday and Thursday, at matinee and evening performances, the Egyptian will give the Main Line premiere of foreign-language talking films, in "Sous les Toits de Paris." A comedy-drama, it tells of the life under the roofs of Paris, and has in its cast Albert Prejean, a rival of Chevalier in appearance and personality. Clean in its fun, it is yet such a clever Gallic blending of sound effects, including conversation, and of novel photography, that it has been hailed as an advance in screen entertainment technic by critics in the few large cities in this country in which it has been shown. Directed by Rene Clair, who also is lauded for "Le Million," the picture is 60 per cent. pantomime, of the universal appeal and intelligibility that made old-time American silent pictures world-famous. One need not understand French to enjoy this film. On its success will depend the showing of other of the best of foreign-language pictures here.

Next Friday and Saturday, Ruth Chatterton will star in the screen version of "Tomorrow and Tomorrow," popular and pleasing stage play. Announced as coming soon are Constance Bennett in "Lady With a Past," "Shanghai Express," "Hell Divers," "Fireman, Save My Child," "Broken Lullaby," "Man Who Played God" and Chevalier's "One Hour With You."

Stites States Views on Local Political Situation

When Fletcher W. Stites was asked for his viewpoint on the Committee contests in Narberth he stated that, divorced from any partisan feature, the representatives of a community should reasonably represent the spirit and calibre of the community.

"It is an open secret," Mr. Stites stated, "that Narberth has given indifferent attention to the selection of its Committee members and yet such officers can be made to produce substantial service to the community. If they are merely used to benefit the individuals holding them, or not utilized at all, as appears to have been the case, then I would say that a valuable civic opportunity has been missed."

"I pass no judgment on the individuals involved in this instance, but I freely subscribe to the theory that the interest of the Borough comes before that of any man or woman in it and the fine points developed in this discussion afford refreshing evidence that our people comprehend the fundamental considerations of a most important nature are involved in the selection of occupants of every office, high or low."

"Whatever the result of the present contest, I feel the voters of Narberth will have derived a tangible benefit from the occasion."

Mr. Stites has taken no part in the local political campaign, but has spoken on behalf of Smedley D. Butler, dry candidate for U. S. Senator in other localities.

"Pied Piper" to be Rendered at School

Operetta Based on Old German Legend, to be Given by Pupils April 28, 29

120 WILL PARTICIPATE

The operetta, "The Pied Piper of Hamelin," will be given on April 28 and 29 at 8 o'clock in the auditorium at the Narberth School. Various classes will participate and the music will be furnished by the school orchestra.

The operetta is based on the old German legend expressed so beautifully in the poem entitled "The Pied Piper of Hamelin" by Robert Browning. The legend tells of a certain piper who came to the town, Hamelin, in the valley of the Weser. He was offered a sum of money to rid the town of the vermin of rats. After accomplishing his task and failing to receive the promised reward, in revenge he once again blew his horn. This time he drew the children out of the town after him. The piper led them up to the mountains into a cavern, which closed forever upon their entrance.

There will be about 120 pupils taking part in this quaint operetta. The main characters will be:

Pied Piper, Harvey Cook; Mayor, Dwight Mackell; Soot, Billy Watson; Lame Boy, Drayton Benner; Mothers: Jane Chillas, Doris Berry and Eighth Grade girls; Villagers, Glee Club and other Eighth Grade girls; Corporation, Eighth Grade boys; Rats, Sixth and Second Grades boys; Children, Fifth and Second grades; Flower Girls, Sixth Grade girls; Toy Men, Sixth Grade Boys, and Narrator, Anita MacFarland.

Tickets can be procured from school pupils for the Thursday or Friday performances at thirty-five cents each. The proceeds will be devoted to school activities. Everyone is cordially invited to come.

JULIA POORMAN,
Eighth Grade.

At a meeting of the Suburban Measurement Group, held at Springfield, Delaware County, on March 16, Miss Hoover, mathematics teacher in the Narberth Public Schools, read a report of research work which she did in arithmetic. The paper will be published in a research bulletin, which will be presented to the Measurement Group at its next meeting at the Lower Merion Junior High School on Wednesday, May 11.

L. M. High School Notes

By BILL MACAN
The first and foremost "event of the week" so far as the high school is concerned is probably the extemporaneous speaking contest for Seniors. Although the elimination bout was held a couple of weeks ago, this Friday's assembly is devoted to the finals. Five Seniors will demonstrate their art of speaking before the three judges: Frank H. Mancill, president of the Lower Merion Board of Commissioners; Prof. Roger H. Wells, professor of political economics at Bryn Mawr College, and Reverend Edmund G. Rawson, of the Ardmore Presbyterian Church. The competitors will be allowed one hour before the contest to prepare speeches chosen from a given list of topics, and the whole school will enjoy the results. The five speakers are: Fred Justin, Joseph Moore, Dorothy Bates, Bill Ferguson and Sherwin McDowell.

L. M. is one of the six suburban schools that will participate in the 37th annual Conference of the American Physical Education Association on Friday evening at the University of Pennsylvania Palestra. Seventeen girls making up the Lower Merion group will join the other schools in giving a colonial dance, the Gavotte. Miss Katherine Rambo has coached our group. The conference is being held from Wednesday to Friday.

The last of the Teachers' Institute proceedings will be held Saturday, beginning at 9 o'clock. Among the speakers will be: Dr. H. H. Baisch, head of the Retirement Bureau, Department of Public Instruction; Dr. Michael Dorizas, University of Pennsylvania; Dr. Agnes L. Rogers, Bryn Mawr College; Dr. Anna Y. Reed, New York University, and Mrs. E. S. Griscom, Briar Bush Bird Sanctuary, Roslyn, Pa.

All interested are invited to attend Engineer's Day at the University of Pennsylvania this Saturday. Demonstrations will be given at the Towne Scientific School and the Moore School of Electricity. University students will give laboratory demonstrations in Chemistry, Chemical Engineering, Electricity, Electric Machinery, Steam and Gas Engines, Shopwork, Foundry, Hydraulic Machinery, and Material Testing. William Slocum, an alumnus of Lower Merion and the University, will be present at today's assembly to give full details of this exhibition to the student body.

Make It Worth Buying, Then Advertise It, Dunne Tells Business Council

Business methods and advertising were discussed by Ralph S. Dunne, president of Narberth's Business Council, at its monthly meeting in the Arcadia Restaurant Wednesday noon. He emphasized the value of well-placed advertising and sales efforts in increasing business. "Advertising is no panacea for business ills," he said. "It should be backed by the results of a study of the wants and buying habits of prospective buyers."

"It has been possible in the coal business, for instance," he said, "to trace definite reactions and response to our window displays, direct mail and community newspaper advertising."

He suggested that Narberth residents can be persuaded to purchase more goods and services from Borough business people if business houses will give consistently good service and value-for-the-money, and then advertise sufficiently, jointly and individually, to tell residents of the values and services offered. "Buy at home means nothing," he said, "unless people are given good reason to buy at home, and then told of that good reason."

Mrs. Grace, Borough Clerk, Intermediary for Unemployed

It was announced this week that Mrs. Carl D. Grace, Borough clerk, has agreed to act as intermediary for the unemployed in Narberth and those seeking itinerant labor. This work will be carried on in addition to her official duties.

The registration cards of the unemployed are now in the Borough office and those in need of help are urged to call Mrs. Grace there. The telephone is Narberth 2840.

A number of residents have already availed themselves of the opportunity to give employment to Borough men.

Lower Merion Nine Takes Lacing From Abington, 7-0

Lower Merion suffered a severe setback at the hands of Abington High in a league I baseball game played at Abington Tuesday afternoon; score, 7 to 0.

Captain Herb. Thomas did not enjoy his usual success with his left-handed slants and at the end of seven innings on the hill he departed the game, leaving Right-Hander Smith to finish in grand style.

The locals could garner only three hits off the services of Big Boy Brounlee, and the tall right-hander for the Abington nine finished the game under wraps, holding the visitors scoreless.

Osborne, speedy shortstop, slammed out a triple for the victors. This game makes the first set-back sustained by the locals in the league competition this season. Two outside games have been lost, the last one to Overbrook High last Friday by the score of 4 to 2. Johnny Brennan pitched this game for Ed. Whistler, the coach, and twirled consistent ball. His teammates left him in the lurch in the seventh inning and booted three runs across, enough to win.

The team lines up against Norristown next Tuesday afternoon on the home soil, and we all must go out to see that battle. Games between the players from the Blue and White institution at Norristown and the lads from the Old Maroon always mean plenty of action and no little feeling.

Girl Scout Notes

The regular Tuesday meeting of the Narberth Girl Scout Troop, No. 8, was opened in conventional form. Patrol Corners then followed. Miss Melvin, field captain of Philadelphia, was a visitor and gave a talk and demonstration on first aid which was enjoyed by everyone. After the talk games were played, in which everyone had a very enjoyable time. The meeting was closed as usual about 9 o'clock.

JANE CHILLAS,
Scribe.

East Indian Speaks

Reginald A. Singh, a resident of India, was the speaker at the meeting Tuesday of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club. The International Relations Committee of the club was in charge.

Out West it is said that farm tractors are meeting horse competition again. The Horse Association of American says that this is a horse year, demand is widespread with farmers the principal buyers. ## Finishing Touch

"THE PERFECT HOUSE!" agreed her friends, and Martha Hill accepted their praise proudly. She knew it was deserved. Each detail of her new home showed unerring taste—painstaking selection.

She was seated with her guests in the living room when the telephone beside her rang. A call for the maid—this was embarrassing! Martha noted the strained pause while the call was being answered.

It was Mrs. Burns who ever so tactfully restored Martha's poise. "My dear," she whispered, "that used to happen to me every time I entertained. Now I have a kitchen telephone and another upstairs for privacy's sake. They're such a comfort!"

Much Ability Manifested in Third Annual Art Exhibition at Montgomery Day School

The third annual exhibition of work done by members of Montgomery Country Day School's Art Department opened yesterday at three o'clock.

A large number of parents attended the exhibition, which seemed to be much more colorful than previously. Francis J. Quirk, the Director of Arts, attributes this to the more cheerful aspect of the studio, which was rebuilt and more fully equipped last fall.

In the several hundred pieces shown, divisions were made to include charcoal, watercolor, pastel, linoleum block, crayon, pencil, oil, sculpture and mechanical drawing, poster design, color theory and anatomy.

The exhibition had two very distinct parts, for the large south wall was covered with the traveling exhibition which brought so much honor to Montgomery recently. This group, representative of work done before January by grades from fourth to senior high, was exhibited in the Rhode Island School of Design Museum and in the Massachusetts School of Fine Art Galleries.

The work of about seventy boys is included and, with ages varying from eight to seventeen, one is surprised at the versatility and competitive creative ability displayed.

Among the fourth class boys George Harding, of Wynnewood, stands out as the draughtsman, which Robert Weller and John Curtiss come close behind. Prentiss Kent, of Ardmore, and Percival Harris, of Haverford, are prominent as colorists, while William Bohlen, of Bryn Mawr, finds an excellent medium between drawing and painting. His "Seaside Series" attracted much attention for its splendid color and grandiose views.

As last year Pemberton Drinker, of Merion, holds down honors in the fifth class. His sense of the dramatic is exercised considerably in his "Last Flight," with its falling airplane and parachute-jumper. Daniel Bettie, of Gladwyne, and Harold Connert, of Haverford; David Place, of Wayne, and George Bartol, of Wynnewood, all have work which indicates courage of conviction.

The sixth grade has many strong workers. David Clark, of Cynwyd, has a skillful painting of a cruiser speeding through green-blue, white-capped waves. Thomas Godfrey, of Ardmore, shows a series of types of boats, cars and airplanes, while David Rockwell, of Radnor, displays a rather whimsical group of drawings (in color) of various deep-sea fish.

Ben LeBoutillier, of Paoli, and Arthur Wheeler, of Wynnewood, both display a sensitivity in their drawings and paintings that excited favorable comment. John Swartley, Thomas Sears and La Rue Munson's characteristically neat drawings were much admired.

The advanced classes are dominated by the "four horsemen," Alfred H. Lippincott, of Haverford; David Longmaid, of Bryn Mawr; Grellet Gibbons-Neff, of Wynnewood, and Lawrence Lafore, of Penn Valley. Rivalry seems to have kept these four boys working at a furious pace, for their works practically fill an entire wall of the huge gymnasium.

Lippincott certainly gets honors for his originality, for use of line in drawing, and for his decidedly modernistic tendencies. This tendency can be traced through earlier charcoal drawings up to his series of cubistic heads and to his unique character study of Greta Garbo.

In Longmaid there is a certain stability of draughtsmanship and refined sense of color and mass relationship that is quite unique in a boy of thirteen years. His skillful and carefully constructed figure sketches are a forte, as are also some of his sensitive color compositions.

Gibbons-Neff, while somewhat jerky in his technique, shows the necessary ability to stick to a thing until he has it. After studying his large painting, "The Race," one will realize that his effects are deliberate and arrived at only after real work.

Lafore, satirical and observing, records a tea party in which one youthful matron does her best to out-talk another. A more finished technique would help his work.

John Harrison, Corbit Davis, Walter Judd, John Peck, Ernest Biddle and John Pfeffer are newcomers in this advanced group and bid fair to surpass the "Four" in a year or two.

Biddle and Davis are outstanding for fine delineation, while Judd and Peck and Harrison are painters at heart, as is witnessed by their large paintings: "Bluenose," Judd; "Harmony in Grey-Green," Park, and "Overlooking the Valley," by Harrison.

Another branch newly organized this year is the Saturday morning oil painting class. Morris Lloyd, of Ardmore, is outstanding here as a thoughtful painter of form. Lippincott has his oils attuned to his modernistic tendencies, Longmaid's are serious and somewhat heavy.

Ewing Walker, whose work is firmly modern, also exhibits with this group.

Cameron Macleod, of Paoli; Abbott Mead, of Narberth, and Lafore complete the list of exhibitors of oils.

Unquestionably superior in mechanical drawing are Austin Sharpless and Asbury Coward, of Wynnewood.

Miss Ann C. Almy, of Ardmore, and Mrs. Gibson Bell, of Wynnewood, acted as hostesses. Tea was served from three to five o'clock in the gymnasium.

American Spirit Analyzed in New Book by Dr. Arthur Hobson Quinn, of Cynwyd

Dr. Arthur Hobson Quinn, professor of English at the University of Pennsylvania, has published many books on English and American literature.

But it was just an accident that he did not become an historian instead of an English professor, and it is to the field of history that he turns his attention in his latest book, "The Soul of America," which has just been published by the University of Pennsylvania Press.

In this volume, Dr. Quinn, who lives on Pembroke road, Cynwyd, draws a picture of American institutions and indicates the responsibilities facing this country as a world power.

Dr. Quinn believes that history is shaped, to a large extent, by great men and that the time is ripe for a reaction against the debunking style of history which achieved a considerable vogue of late years. Also while not under estimating the importance of economic forces, he feels that they are of less significance in determining the history of a nation than are its outstanding leaders.

"Liberalism is a particular hobby of mine," said Dr. Quinn, when interviewed this week, "and I have laid considerable stress upon it in the book. I have tried to show that America is a liberal country and to explain the liberal position."

That Dr. Quinn is a liberal in practice as well as in theory is illustrated by the fact that he was one of the leaders in the movement to give the A. B. degree at Penn without requiring Greek fourteen years ago. Last year Latin was also dropped as a requirement for an A. B.

From 1912 to 1922 Dr. Quinn was dean of the College faculty and during the war years many students entering the service came into the Dean's office to say good-bye. It is to these sons of Pennsylvania that "The Soul of America" is dedicated and partly because of them that it was written.

During his undergraduates days at Penn Dr. Quinn wrote for the New York Times and was editor-in-chief of the Red and Blue, college daily. He recalled one time when he had to write an article for the TIMES on the Penn crew, which he proceeded to do without ever seeing them row.

After his graduation in 1894 he became an instructor in mathematics and English at the University. The year 1897-98 he spent studying abroad at the University of Munich. He was appointed an assistant professor of English in 1904 and a professor in 1908.

Dr. Quinn looks back upon the ten years he spent as Dean of the College as a very white while, but often difficult, experience. He told of one of his hardest jobs as dean, which was keeping a crowd of students out of a building after a football victory, when they were bent on destruction as a form of celebration. "College men are usually easy to handle," he said, "when appealed to in the right way. Of course, I couldn't have stopped them," he remarked with a smile, "if they had decided to force their way into the building. But as a last resort I had stationed the janitor with the fire hose behind the door and they would have gotten a good drenching. The janitor was the most disappointed man of the lot when the tumult subsided, not having had a chance to use the hose."

Dr. Quinn, who has written about fifty articles for the Yale Review, Scribner's, and other magazines, is the author of two histories of the American drama, of "Pennsylvania Stories," and has edited numerous books, plays and anthologies. He is the specialist on American Playwrights for the Dictionary of American Biography.

Conducts Own Composition

Dr. Herbert J. Tily, of Cynwyd, president of Strawbridge & Clothier, directed his chorus of over 60 and the Pennsylvania Symphony Society in one of his own compositions, "Te Deum Laudamus," at the final concert of the orchestra at the Scottish Rite Temple, Philadelphia, last Sunday night. Dr. Tily's work was one of great dignity and revealed the composer's musicianship.

Prohibition Repeal Stressed by Peters

Two Hundred Republican
Women Workers Attend
Luncheon Monday

HESS PRAISES PETERS

Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and diversion of enormous Prohibition expenditures in channels for the relief of unemployment was advocated by Assemblyman Fred C. Peters, of Ardmore, at a luncheon meeting of the Republican Women's Campaign Committee at Green Hill Farms Monday afternoon.

Approximately 200 Republican women workers of Lower Merion Township and the Borough of Narberth attended the luncheon.

Mrs. Theodore E. Benade, of Cynwyd, presided. She introduced Mrs. Mabelle M. Kirkbride, former State representative, who presented the speakers.

Mrs. Peters, who is Republican candidate for renomination as Representative from the First Assembly District of Montgomery County, said there would be no straddling or pussy-footing on the part of the Regular Organization candidates in regards to prohibition.

"Unequivocally," said Mr. Peters, "we stand for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment."

Mr. Peters stated that he was convinced the all-consuming and National problem was prohibition.

"I believe the great experiment of prohibition has gotten beyond our control. Like the oil well gusher, it should be capped before further damage is done. Money that is now being spent to enforce prohibition should be used to relieve our unemployment conditions," he concluded.

In her opening remarks Mrs. Benade said it was a distinct honor to welcome those attending the meeting.

"We are all intensely interested in this affair," she said, "as a means of furthering an organization of mutual political interests. Our interests have prospered for many years under the leadership of a gentleman whose foremost thought has been our own good. This, alone, is sufficient evidence of his wisdom."

Those at the speakers' tables were Mrs. Benade, vice-president of the Lower Merion-Narberth Council of Republican Women; Mrs. Herman L. Schwartz; Mrs. John Y. Huber, Jr., president of the Lower Merion-Narberth Council of Republican Women; Mrs. Mabelle M. Kirkbride, candidate for alternate National Delegate; Mrs. Mary C. Ackerman, candidate for member of the Republican State Committee; Miss Nancy P. Highley, candidate for National Delegate; J. William Ditter, candidate for Montgomery County's representative in Congress; Fred C. Peters, candidate for renomination as State Legislator for the First Assembly District of Montgomery County; Louise V. Cockrill, candidate for renomination as Committeewoman in Narberth, and Peter C. Hess, Lower Merion Township treasurer.

Mr. Hess, another speaker, said that he was convinced the people of this section wanted the Eighteenth Amendment repealed from the Constitution of the United States. He spoke of the constructive accomplishments of Mr. Peters in the Legislature at Harrisburg.

"Mr. Peters," he said, "says little, but does a great deal."

Mrs. Schwartz, the first speaker, spoke of two strategic points in the campaign: The nomination of a delegate to the National Convention and the nomination of Congressman.

State Senator Boyd, who is a candidate for Congress, had a record of indifference during his first term in Harrisburg. He led a bolt from the party last year, she said, when solidarity was most needed.

She referred to Charles Johnson, Montgomery County's leader, as a "cool-headed man who has both feet on the ground and a leader of 30 years' experience."

Mrs. Huber, the last speaker, tied up the local campaign issue with National problems of taxation and Federal economy.

She spoke of President Hoover as a great economist who has been faced with almost insurmountable problems of post-war adjustment.

"If you want to return President

Hoover to the State House," she said, "vote the Regular Organization ticket in Montgomery County."

Mr. Ditter, Mrs. Ackerman and Miss Highley also made brief speeches regarding issues of the coming Primary.

Winter Ash Collection
Schedule Ends May 28th

The regular weekly collection of ashes and trash, in effect throughout the winter, will be discontinued on May 28, it was announced this week by Superintendent of Public Works George B. Suplee.

The summer schedule, which will provide for two collections each month, or one every other week, will go into effect the week of June 6. Collections through the summer will be as follows: June 6 and 20; July 4 and 18, August 1, 15 and 29, and September 12 and 19.

The winter schedule will be resumed on October 3 and will continue weekly thereafter.

Young Addresses Meeting

Louis A. Young, of Narberth, independent candidate for State Assemblyman from the first legislative district, inveighed against heavy expenditures in a political campaign in these times in an address before a meeting of his friends and supporters at Green Hill Farms last Thursday night. Mr. Young outlined his platform, emphasizing that he was a wet in every sense of the word.

Books on Better Homes
Given to the Library

"Better homes make better citizens" is a quotation of President Hoover, which has had an impressive appeal to many people throughout this country; and to one person in this community especially that thought comes each year with much significance. That person is Mrs. J. Campbell-Chetwood, of Narberth, who for two years has given the interest on an investment of $500 to the Narberth Library to purchase books which will further the advancement of better homes.

Recently Mrs. Chetwood has made over to the Library the entire principal, with the provision that the Library each year during Better Homes Week shall announce the titles of the books which has been purchased during that year from the fund. She makes this gift with a keener appreciation and love for homes because of her own lack of a permanent residence, and when she is traveling in distant places it gives her a sense of habitation to know that the young people of Narberth are being guided in their home interests by books which her generosity makes possible. Following is a list of the books which have been purchased in accordance with Mrs. Chetwood's provisions for this year:

"Furniture Boys Like to Build," by Richard Shaver; "Outdoor Sports the Year Round," Popular Mechanics; "Bird Houses Boys Can Build," by A. F. Siepert; "Everyday Good Manners For Boys and Girls," by E. L. Badt; "Pastimes For Sick Children," by M. S. Whitten; "Creative Music in the Home," by S. T. Coleman; "Toys Every Child Can Make," by H. B. Wright; "Handy Man's Handbook," by C. T. Shaefer; "Handcraft Projects," by F. I. Solar in three volumes; "Twenty-five Kites That Fly," by L. L. Hunt; "Little Folk's Handy Book," by Lina and A. B. Beard; "Complete Playcraft Book," by Patten Beard; "Food Purchasing For the Home," by Blinks and Moore.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED BY FALSE ISSUES!

Guard Your County

For the second time in less than eight months, Montgomery Republicans are asked to act at the polls on a proposal to shift the leadership of their party in the County.

You face today almost the identical proposition from James S. Boyd and the Pinchot Allies in Montgomery, which you rejected so overwhelmingly last September with your sweeping endorsement of the leadership of Charles Johnson.

The only difference is that last September, Senator Boyd was the open ally and confessed partner of T. Duncan Just. Today he hopes to put Pinchot and Just in the saddle by an undercover move which he thinks will adroitly divide the Liberal Republicans of the County.

Boyd Knows He Can't Win

Senator Boyd knows that he cannot possibly win. The best this ardent advocate of Prohibition Reform can hope to accomplish is to put Pinchot and Just in power.

To understand the strategy of his political gyrations one must bear in mind that Senator Boyd's sole objective is to seize control of the Montgomery Republican organization for himself.

He argues that a victory for Pinchot and Just in 1932 would eliminate Johnson and place the leadership in the hands of a weak minority faction from which he could wrest it at his pleasure.

It Can't Be Done, Senator

The Boyd reasoning is an insult to the intelligence of the great army of Montgomery Republicans who rejected him so summarily in the primary election last September.

You voters fully realize what the Johnson leadership has meant to you in low county taxes, fine state and county roads, splendid bridges, magnificent buildings, etc., etc.

You will hardly swap that sort of leadership for any untried, "pig-in-the-poke" proposal that can be offered by the Pinchot-Just faction, or by Governor Pinchot's wet ally, Senator Boyd.

Montgomery County can best safeguard its territorial integrity and its really remarkable financial position by voting the whole Johnson ticket in the primary election on Tuesday, April 26.

THE MAN AND HIS PLATFORM

J. WILLIAM DITTER

As a result of my experience in the courts and my knowledge of the temperament of the citizens of the county, I am persuaded the Eighteenth Amendment has not served the purposes for which its sponsors so zealously labored, and that its violation has resulted in corruption in public office and disobedience to law. This attitude is antagonistic to the best interests of self-government. The purpose intended by the amendment can best be served by its repeal and the submission of the question to each State for its own determination. —J. William Ditter, in the announcement of his candidacy on February 18, 1932.

J. William Ditter stands absolutely on that statement today.

Republicans all over the County are flocking to his support because they know that, with Charles Johnson and the Regular Republican Organization of Montgomery County behind him, Mr. Ditter has the best chance to win.

These Republican voters are convinced that Montgomery should join the great movement for Prohibition Reform by sending a man in step with the trend of the times to congress and they recognize in Mr. Ditter the man who will meet their requirements.

They will refuse to be swerved from their purpose by false promises and issues designed merely to befog the situation and grind political axes.

Vote for Ditter and make victory certain.

Primaries Tuesday to Divide Committee Place Contests

credit Mr. Noel with being the greatest single influence which has planned, directed and organized the Narberth Fire Department to first rank on the Main Line, and to such a rating of reliable efficiency that Narberth now enjoys the lowest fire-insurance rates in this vicinity. Mr. Noel's personal devotion to the Fire Company, literally to the exclusion of all else, his personal and constant supervision of all details of the fire fighting equipment and personnel have been so long permanent and reliable factors in the life of the community as to be taken for granted. The result is that Narberth residents, awakened in the night by the fire alarm, give no more thought to the outcome than do those who live under the protection of paid firemen in the cities. For years Mr. Noel has been a generous contributor to all good causes and the friend of the needy. His previous re-elections to the Republican committee have been unopposed and, although frequently working for others, he has almost never asked the people of Narberth to vote for himself. The present contest, which he would have preferred to avoid, even to the extent of withdrawing, gives the people of the first district in Narberth the first opportunity they have ever had to indicate by the votes their approval of one whose voluntary and unpaid service to their behalf, both day and night, has been of a high order and distinction such as few communities can exhibit among their citizens.

Mrs. Louise Voss Cockrill

Mrs. Cockrill has been actively and prominently concerned with public and community affairs ever since she became a resident of Narberth in 1913. None of the many activities which came to citizens in the War Years was avoided nor neglected by her. She was one of the founders of the Narberth Women's Community Club and has always been prominent in the affairs of that leading organization of women. She was its treasurer for nine years. She was a worker for the political emancipation of women, and after that had been achieved, she became an active member of the League of Women Voters. Mrs. Cockrill was one of the early group of volunteer librarians whose services over a long period of years developed for Narberth its present efficient Community Library. She is now vice-president of the Library Board of Trustees. She was also one of the original group who started and sponsored what is now the local branch of the Parent-Teachers' Association. It is the belief of her friends that, like Mr. Noel, her personal services to the community merit the endorsement which she now seeks at the hands of her fellow-Republicans in the first district.

Mrs. Maude K. Reeves

Mrs. Reeves has been a resident of Narberth for fifteen years, and all during that time she has been actively interested in the support of all public and community causes which must have the co-operation of good citizens in order to prevail. She has been for five years a district lieutenant of the Red Cross. Having previously completed a professional training course in the New York Public Library, she was among the earliest volunteers on the staff of the Narberth Community Library, which she served diligently for five years. Mrs. Reeves has also been an active worker in the Mothers' Association of the Girl Scouts, in which she served as treasurer for some time. She has been an active member of the Women's Community Club for ten years and has served on many of its committees. Mrs. Reeves has been a consistently loyal and faithful Republican ever since women were granted the rights of citizenship. She has often been a worker in the ranks in connection with various campaigns, being willing always to devote her own time to the services of the party, and to do any kind of work in the ranks to which she might be assigned. She has never sought the limelight, but her supporters in the second district are pleased that they have this opportunity to rally in her behalf and to invite from her fellow-Republicans the endorsement which they believe she richly deserves.

Arthur L. Cooke

Arthur L. Cooke, candidate for Committeeman in the First District, is a World War veteran and past commander of the Harold D. Speakman Post, American Legion, of Narberth. He has played prominent parts in productions of the Narberth Players and is active in other Borough affairs. He has been a resident of Narberth since his early boyhood and is noted for his alertness of speech and action.

Mr. Cooke's attitude on the contest Tuesday is that last Fall's vote was a repudiation of the administration of the present incumbents and he claims that as they did not retire voluntarily their elimination should be effected by force of ballot. "We challenge our opponents," Mr. Cooke stated, "to recite one single thing which they accomplished in behalf of Narberth and the very fact that they are beseeching a continuance in office because it is important to them personally to remain, affords proof that they regard the post as a private perquisite and not as an opportunity to be of tangible service to the community. Narberth should be represented by those who think of the town and its necessities and not by men and women who seek to advance their own interests first, last and all the time. The battle should hinge on Narberth and anti-Narberth lines and I feel my record in the Borough will make it plain that I stand for Narberth and can be depended on to push the town and its people forward on every possible occasion."

Mrs. Maude S. Miller

Mrs. Maude S. Miller, candidate for Committeewoman in District No. 1, is the wife of Albert C. Miller, long prominent in U. of P. athletics. She is chairman of the Membership Committee of the Parent-Teachers' Association and is actively interested in many Borough projects. She states that her interest in the election is calculated to assure fair play for Narberth.

"One does not have to know a great deal about politics," Mrs. Miller said, "to comprehend that representatives who only stand for 10 per cent. of the Republican voters are hardly eligible to continue in the accountability. Neither can I see anything on the record which makes me believe that Narberth has profited at all from the procedure which has been in effect. I agree there should be a change and while I did not seek the office, I offer myself for service in the hope and expectation that I can co-operate in bringing about a better order of things. Certainly I shall do my best to have it so."

Herbert A. Barton

Herbert A. Barton, candidate for Committeeman on the South Side (District No. 3), is a lawyer and the son of George A. Barton, the noted historian. Mr. Barton believes that adherence to the Johnson wing of the party will bring Narberth into a more important basis in county affairs, but he claims the present set-up must be changed.

"To elect the anti-Narberth Committee members again, Mr. Barton declared, "is simply to renew the lethargy of past years and if we are to get any place the old hold-backs must go. Not a thing ever comes to Narberth from Norristown and not a thing will come under the present auspices. Norristown wants a change made and Narberth ought to see that it is made. How can the County Committee have any confidence in Narberth delegates if they only stand for 10 per cent. of the voters? They are simply regarded as unwelcome visitors and nobody pays any attention to them. A vote for the pro-Narberth candidates is a vote for town progress and opportunity. We have 2500 Republican voters and not a single one of them has a County position. The reason for that chiefly lies in the inefficiency of the methods observed by the candidates under fire. It is a pity they did not resign without forcing the fight to dislodge them."

Mrs. Louise Town

Mrs. Louise Town, candidate for Committeewoman in the Second District, has been active as a volunteer Republican worker for the last few years. She is the wife of Robert M. Town, a resident of Narberth for more than thirty years.

Mrs. Town expresses her conviction that a Committee member should represent the will of the citizens who elected her and she claims her opponent went to great extremes in the Fall

Elizabethan Atmosphere to Pervade Bryn Mawr College Campus for May Day Fete

Morrice Dances, Greatest of English Folk Dances, 16th Century Plays, Maypole and Revels to Feature Affair May 6th and 7th

By JOSEPH L. COPELAND

Time will be turned back three and a quarter centuries at Bryn Mawr College on May 6th and 7th, when the students present their traditional Elizabethan May Day—a fete given with such painstaking attention to detail and authenticity of plays, dances, and village characters and costumes that it is possible to produce it only once in four years.

The Bryn Mawr campus, with its ancient trees and wide greens, its nooks and hollows, its Gothic buildings with ivy-covered walls and its Cloister garden, provides an ideal background, a natural stage, for the 16th century plays, maypole, country and Morrice dances, and other revels of which the fete consists. It would be hard to find in this country another place so much in keeping with the spirit of the Elizabethans as Bryn Mawr, another setting so beautifully adapted to the task of bringing the past to vivid life again.

May Day will open on the afternoon of Friday, May 6th, with a pageant that forms outside Pembroke Arch, moves through this ivy-covered gateway, past Taylor Hall and so to Merion Green. In the van will march eight gorgeous heralds in black and gold, followed by "her most gracious majesty, Queen Elizabeth, whom God preserve." Elizabeth will be portrayed by Cornelia Otis Skinner, whose most recent stage success has been in "The Wives of Henry VIII." Miss Skinner is a member of the Class of 1922. She will be borne aloft in a litter by the Lords of her Court—Leicester, Burleigh, Sir Francis Bacon and other gentlemen. These parts will be taken by members of the faculty.

Then will come that being honored above all others on this day of days—Maid Marian, Lady of the May, the Queen whose crowning with a chaplet of blossoms at the foot of the maypole marks the great moment of the event. The May Queen, who is Miss Cornelia Drake, a junior, of Miami, Florida, and Lenox, Mass.—chosen for her beauty and her fitness for the part—will ride with the Lord of the May beside her. He is Robin Hood, portrayed by Miss Margaret Righter, of Princeton, N. J., and it is he who places the crown upon the fair head of his love, while Gloriana and her Court and all the May Day throng look on.

Next in the procession will come the tall and comely Maypole, decked with flowers and drawn by oxen, and accompanied by country lads and lassies, people in the plays and dances, the chimney-sweeps with their fantastic Jack-in-the-Green, who strives to election in unnecessarily conflicting with the obvious sentiments of the neighborhood.

"To my mind," Mrs. Town declared, "first consideration should be accorded the desires of the community. If the representative cannot correspond with those desires, he or she ought to resign and not affront the voters by an unseemly display of vicious partisanship. The capers in our district last Fall were of the most absurd nature possible. When the election was over it was revealed that the anti-Narberth Committee members had only secured one vote out of every nine or ten. With such a record it is difficult to understand why a continuance in office should be sought. As a candidate on the pro-Narberth ticket, I stand for the interests of the Borough, and it is very plain that the interests of the Borough have been sadly neglected in the past."

be a tree; the town crier and village watchman, Tom the Piper, with his tabor and penny whistle, "whiffers"—who are guards to keep the crowds back—"Hobby Horses," "Fools," the milkmaids, with their cow, and bands of Morrice Men.

The day's events are divided into two parts—the dances, revels and play of "St. George and the Dragon," on the Green, that continue throughout the afternoon, and plays, each presented three times during the afternoon, in various hollows and natural stages on the campus, at 3.30, 4.30 and 5.30 o'clock. The plays to be presented are "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "The Old Wives' Tale," the play of "Robyn Hood," as arranged for the first May Day in 1900 by Miss Elizabeth T. Daly, of the Class of 1901, the Forest of Arden scene from "As You Like It," and "The Masque of Flowers."

The Green is one of the most interesting of all the colorful scenes to be presented, some three hundred characters taking part. Such dances as the "Hudson House," named for a Manor at which Elizabeth once stopped; "The Slip" and "Oranges and Lemons" will be given, followed by the Revesby Sword Play and Dance by sailors of Elizabeth's navy, in which will appear characters with the interesting names of "Pickel Herring," "Blue Breeches," "Pepper Breeches," "Ginger Breeches" and "Mr. All-spice." The "Sleights," an ancient and very difficult sword dance, is here introduced. This play and dance are from Lincolnshire and were given by the Plow Boys and Morrice Dancers of Revesby toward the end of the 18th century.

In ancient days May Day was the great holiday for milkmaids and chimney sweeps. In fact, it was the chimney sweeps' only holiday. They and their Jack-in-the-Green will "dance for ha'pence" and the milkmaids and their lads will foot it to "Gathering Peascods," "Jamaica" and other old tunes, while their cow looks on in wonder and amazement. Upon one May Day some few years ago the milkmaids' cow attempted to take part in a dance and was restrained only after some little effort. There will also be tumbling, singing, bag-piping and bear-baiting and Elizabethan country dances, such as have not been seen this many a long year.

These dances, which include such old-fashioned ones as "Parson's Farewell," "Oranges and Lemons," "The Old Mole," "Newcastle" and "29th of May," were popular from court to cottage in Elizabeth's day. Most of the dances have songs to accompany them, the words of which were often adapted to fit some timely political or other event.

The "29th of May" is a dance renamed to celebrate the restoration of Charles II to the throne of England, the 29th of the month becoming a holiday and for a time taking the place of the first as May Day. The day is still observed in rural England and is known as Royal Oak Day because Charles, fleeing after the battle of Worcester, took refuge in the leafy branches of an oak.

The dances of the Morrice Men are, however, the greatest of all old English folk dances and the most difficult of execution. Morrice dancing probably had its origin as part of a pagan religious festival at the advent of Spring, and in spite of the efforts of early Christian missionaries to do away with it, it has survived to this day, and is still danced upon May Day in certain parts of England.

In the 17th century it was banned with maypoles and other "stynking idols" by Cromwell and the Puritans, but it sprang up with renewed vigor when the pleasure-loving Stuarts regained the throne. From that time on until the middle of the Victorian era it flourished and then all but died out. In recent years it has been revived.

May Day is being produced by Bryn Mawr College with President Marion Edwards Park heading the May Day Committee; Mrs. James C. Chadwick-Collins as director, Samuel Arthur King as director of plays, Miss Josephine Petts as director of the Green, and F. H. Ernest Willoughby as director of the music.

at Esham Manor Inn, each girl being privileged to bring her mother as a guest. A dinner and extensive entertainment is planned.

The speaker last Thursday was Mrs. David N. Patterson, of Cynwyd, who, in her charming manner, reviewed several books of modern fiction. Her list included "Prophetic Marriage," by Warwick Deeping; "Loads of Love," by Anne Parrish; "Westward Passage," by Margaret Ayer Barnes, and three short historical romances by George Gibbs, who lives upon our own Main Line. The girls made notes of Mrs. Patterson's talk, and since her delightfully worked-up reviews ended in each case with "Well,—you'll have to read it yourself to find what finally happened"—we are sure the books on Mrs. Patterson's list will be greatly in demand at the local libraries.

Tea and cakes were served, and the meeting adjourned.
